GENERAL MISCELLANEOUS BRANCH

Office of the Health Survey
in Mysore,

Bangalore, 10th September '29

Very urgent RR 11/9/29

Dear Sir,

The laws and regulations of Mysore concerning various aspects of public health in the State are at present scattered in many acts and are in some cases out of date. It is true that, as far as is possible, public health work should be carried on without undue recourse to legal proceedures, but at the same time such work is made much easier if it is backed by strong laws to which the public knows appeal may be made.

The modern growth in public health knowledge, the expansion of such work in Mysore, the recent surveys of vital statistics reporting, of disease control, and of other subjects, make the present seem a suitable time to suggest that Government appoint a Committee to study the present health laws, to revise where necessary, to suggest new laws required, to consider the question of model bye-laws for Districts. municipalities and other local bodies, and to recommend a single comprehensive public health code. Such a Committee should consist of (1) qualified public health members, (2) representatives of Government, (3) legal members, and one of the (4) State Judges. The (5) Sanitary Commissioner should probably be Chairman or Secretary.

May I suggest that Government consider the advisability of appointing such a committee at the present time.

Yours sincerely,

W. C. Sweet,
Director,
Health Survey in Mysore.
